An Astrological Profile for Suri

Childhood is a time filled with promise. A new life, fresh beginnings, and for parents and teachers -- it's the ultimate challenge. How many times have parents wondered why kids did not come with instruction manuals?! There's a secret: they do!

Each person is born at a special time, on a certain day and place. Astrologers use this information to chart the positions of the planets relative to the date, time and place of birth. This chart, or horoscope, provides an invaluable and exceptional view of the potentials, drives and needs for Suri. This is the "cosmic guidebook" for each individual! The patterns of the planets, Sun and Moon are unique and notable for a developing child, since in childhood these pictures are seen in a different light. Children are changing rapidly, and, in the process of becoming themselves, need special love and guidance. Developmental Astrology incorporates the basic concepts of astrology within the framework of the early years of life.

This astrological report can be used as a guidepost, and provides a few hints and insights into the unique qualities of this child. Please remember that everyone -- including a child -- has free will. So while an astrological report can give you some valuable information, it does not indicate a fixed set of limited options. Of course environment also has its influence, but by understanding the significant drives and needs represented by Suri's chart, you can better appreciate her uniqueness, and, hopefully, guide her to fulfill her potentials in the healthiest possible way!

I. Basic Underlying Personality Traits

There are several layers to an astrological chart, just as there are layers to the personality. In astrology, the building blocks of the chart are the planets, signs and houses of the chart. You'll see these terms scattered throughout this report. In a nutshell, the planets (plus the Sun and Moon) represent specific energies and drives. These drives each have a different purpose in the developing personality. The twelve signs of the zodiac represent qualities, characteristics and traits. The houses (the twelve divisions of the chart wheel or circle) symbolize the facets of a person's life. In the drama of life, the planets represent the actors, the signs show the roles the actors play, their costumes and props, and the houses illustrate the setting and scene of the play.

Using the building blocks of the zodiac signs, there's yet another layer. Each sign falls into categories called elements and modes. There are four elements -- fire, earth, air and water; and there are three modes (or action models) -- cardinal, fixed and mutable. There's a way to distill the chart into its dominant element and mode of expression, and this leading denominator gives a powerful clue to the strongest underlying personality traits.

In Suri's chart, there is an outstanding quality of Fire. Having a powerful influence of fiery energy, Suri is likely to be highly energetic. She needs plenty of room and ample opportunities to assert herself. Sports may be a strong interest, but, at the least, staying active is important. Encourage Suri to funnel these active needs by providing plenty of options, from early sports, like gymnastics or dance classes to recreational activities that involve physical assertion. Babies with strong fire can be irritable if they are not given ample opportunities to get rid of physical stress (yes, babies experience stress, too!). Basically, Suri loves play, and fiery temperament babies and young children need plenty of active time with Mom and Dad. Even when she grows up, play will be important, and she will be happiest when anything feels more like play than work! There can also be selfishness with the fiery quality. One thing to keep in mind with Suri is the fact that you must tend a fire: either to keep it burning or to keep it from blazing out of control.

With lacking or little Earth, Suri can seem to be disinterested in practical matters or may seem to be ungrounded. Encourage Suri to get in touch with Earth by inviting her to play with clay, plant flowers or garden, and build things. By developing an understanding of structure, she can compensate for a feeling that she is out of touch with a sense of foundation! You may also have to be especially careful about teaching Suri how to be more in touch with her body and aware of physical needs.

There are three modes in astrology. These determine how a particular sign manifests its energy. These qualities -- known as cardinal, fixed and mutable -- have special meanings in astrology. Each sign or the zodiac correlates with one of three modes of action.

With an emphasis on Cardinal energy, Suri likes to get things going! Cardinal energy is motivational. Much like the ignition of an automobile, the principle of cardinality is required to get things started. Initiative, assertiveness, ambition and independence are all cardinal qualities. The negative traits of impatience and restlessness can be strong, especially if Suri is bored! And, Suri is likely to have a strong desire to act without outside guidance..

In summary, if an element or mode is low or lacking, there's no reason to be highly concerned, but you can find creative ways to help Suri compensate. Focusing on what the lack of any mode or element might mean for the child can prove beneficial, although this should not be interpreted as an actual "personality deficiency." Rather, understand that this could indicate either a tendency to overcompensate or to seek what is lacking in some way. As your child matures, you might discover that she is drawn to others who seem to possess the expressions of a quality that seems to be lacking in her own chart.

Moon Sign and Early Personality Development

Although most people are familiar with the concept of the Sun sign, a child expresses the qualities of the Moon sign more than the Sun sign during the earliest years. That's because the Moon tells the story of feelings and pure emotion. So, you might see more qualities that relate to this factor in Suri's chart during early childhood. Expressing the Sun requires more self-awareness, and that develops later!

Keep in mind that Suri is NOT a blank slate! These drives and expressions can be nourished and supported by understanding family and teachers, helping Suri make the most of these "ingredients" in her developing personality!

With the Moon in Sagittarius, Suri likes to be on the go. Restraints will not be appreciated, but a close watch may be! Given lots of room, time in nature, and ample opportunity to explore, Suri will be happiest. Confirm Suri's intellectual growth and positively reward learning to build her self-confidence and security.

The way Suri might like to be perceived, what she needs to feel motivated toward achievement and what makes her feel significant and special in the world shines through her Sun. While the full expression of Suri's ego takes quite some time to develop, certain qualities will definitely be apparent, even early on. However, this aspect of the personality will be more apparent after the earliest years.

The restlessness Suri frequently demonstrates is the result of the fiery nature of an Aries Sun. Waiting can be simply intolerable. During the "terrible twos", when toddlers are testing limits on a moment-to-moment basis, Suri can be extremely temperamental, but once anger is burned off, she can be quite charming the next moment. Even as a baby, Suri may love to tease. You may even think this baby winks at you! The elementary school years provide the perfect chance for Suri to develop a drive to compete, meet challenges and test limits. Sports may be fun, and staying active is important as a means of burning off excess energy. In preteen years, a love of physical activity may continue, but if other factors draw the Suri to participate in more intellectual activities, that same desire to win and need to prove herself still shines through. Encourage Suri to exercise the drive to move forward and get things started.

Another prevailing quality that's likely to emerge in Suri's early years is shown by the sign on her Ascendant, or Rising Sign. In childhood, the Ascendant and the 1st House signify Suri's physical appearance and how other people view her. After all, most of us have our self-image shaped by what other people tell us about ourselves.

Most important, the Ascendant (ASC) represents Suri's basic attitudes and herself, and how she presents herself to the world. The significance of environmental conditioning in Suri's developing personality is shown by the Ascendant.

With Aquarius rising, Suri may always feel different. Whether it's an unusual appearance or displays of eccentric behavior, she can be uncomfortable with conformity. However, feeling out of place is another thing, so healthy differences need to be positively nurtured. Give Suri a chance to include her special self-expression while encouraging a balance of responsibility as she matures.

II. Nurturing Intellectual and Physical Health and Development

Every parent watches for the signals that indicate a child's intellectual and physical progress. From baby's first words to performance in school, development is noted and records are kept. Providing the stimulus that will strengthen mental and physical development is up to parents, teachers and society. Of course, ultimately, a child will master the experience of learning!

There are many factors involved in intellect -- the ability to conceptualize, the communication of concepts and thoughts, memory, creative ideas, the application of rational thought, judicial thinking, decision-making, speculative thought and more. In order to be whole, the child must achieve a balance between the mental, emotional, physical and spiritual parts of the Self; only then can the power of the intellect be used to its utmost. Otherwise, the mental capacities are likely to be overemphasized or misdirected in order to compensate for under development in some other area.

One important factor in a developing intellect is the nature of the thought patterns themselves. Here, the Moon plays yet another role beyond that of emotional storage house. Through the Moon, a child's unique experiences are stored in the vaults of the subconscious mind. However, the Moon also shows the basic manner in which a child absorbs information. With the Moon in a fire sign, Suri has a highly active mind and the thoughts range into the realm of philosophy and the theoretical. Inspirational ideas will be more interesting than practical matters, and travel and cultural pursuits can inspire learning.

In addition, since the Moon represents the basic thought patterns, the Moon's speed (or rate of travel) fundamentally affects a child's approach to learning. The Moon moves at variable speeds in her rotation around the Earth.

At the time of her birth, the Moon was moving at faster than average speed. Psychologically, this indicates a tendency for Suri to have an eagerness about confronting life experiences. New situations can seem more like a fun-oriented challenge, and are likely to be preferred over the status quo. Suri may also exhibit a tendency to jump into unfamiliar surroundings, often spontaneously or with little preparation. This can also indicate a tendency to feel frustrated with the necessity for lengthy study or research, especially if the material is not interesting! In such circumstances, forgetfulness can be a problem unless Suri learns to use associations which help her retain information.

As a small baby Suri began to explore and learn about her personal environment through the five senses, and these are represented by the energy of Mercury. Over time, the senses are used in a more refined manner, and as the mind gains the ability to integrate more and more information, learning increases. Mercury shows how Suri communicates those thought patterns -- how concepts are framed and also how they are expressed through communication. The years of Mercury's heightened developmental cycle are from age seven to thirteen, when the connections between a child and her world are powerfully shaped. Language is mastered; communication skills are refined. It is during these years, that Suri will project the qualities of Mercurial energy more strongly.

Suri has Mercury in Aries, which shows a tendency to be very direct in communication and highly creative mentally. Her basic approach may be to get the facts, then go on to something new. Even as a small child, Suri is likely to jump right into situations, just following the impulse to know what that thing is! Suri can be a persuasive communicator.

For Suri, Mercury in square aspect to Mars promotes tremendous mental activity bordering on the hyperactive. Sitting still and focusing for long periods can be frustrating. It's important to allow Suri to take a few breaks when studying, as long as she returns to the material after a set period of time. Assuring that Suri has adequate time for exercise and physical activity can also be helpful and may actually aid in concentration during the day. With Mercury trine Saturn, Suri is likely to take learning very seriously and may take great pride in performing well in school. Writing and communication can flow easily, and learning in a reasonably structured environment may seem more natural than a setting with too much flexibility. However, even in open classroom settings, she can develop the self-discipline necessary to accomplish the tasks at hand. Practical knowledge may be more interesting than abstracts, but other chart factors may be more indicative of subject preference, like Mercury's sign placement.

Mercury in the 2nd House adds an enjoyment to learning if it's about the world around Suri. She may also show an interest in exploring the physical environment, nature, and also money. Allowance and managing money are an important part of Suri's necessary education. In fact, she may have a talent for it once the basic principles are understood.

Jupiter and Learning

Another factor involved in Suri's learning styles and needs is symbolized by Jupiter. These qualities are initially experienced through the encouragement of teachers and guides, but ultimately, Jupiter shows how Suri will express confidence and what types of stimulation will build her learning skills. Suri's Jupiter in Scorpio indicates an approach to learning based on how deeply she is involved with or connected to the material. Making learning personal will always help, since the value of abstraction can be less important than the value of "how this relates to my life." When Suri is interested in a subject, there can be a kind of compulsion learning about it. However, the things she does not like may be disliked with a passion!

Encouragement and testing are two different things. Small children do not like to be tested -- life is enough of a test for them! They do enjoy learning, but need to be encouraged to learn at their own pace. Finding that pace is one of the primary tasks of parents and teachers. Watch for signs that tell you when Suri is comfortable with a situation, and ready to push beyond it. Then, offer stimulation of that expression by setting fresh goals and opportunities to learn and develop the mind.

Finding Fun and Encouraging Physical Development

There are many factors that indicate particular needs in regard to physical health. However, I feel that specific strengths and weaknesses and their care are best dealt with in greater depth using refined astrological techniques beyond the scope of this reports. But one feature of childhood we can explore is where to find play and recreational activities that might be most comfortable and enjoyable for Suri. The planet Mars represents physical energy -- it's the fuel that is needed to keep the physical engine running! Mars' sign and house placement gives good clues about a child's preferences for play and activity, including sports and approach to fitness.

Suri's favorite forms of recreation and sports can include swimming, surfing, water skiing, scuba diving, tai kwan do, karate, golf, fly-fishing, boating, snorkeling, folk dancing, and belly dancing!

With Mars in the 5th House, Suri will enjoy recreational activities and sports as a means to direct physical energy. If she is not physically competitive, this energy may be positively directed toward hobbies or other creative activities. Winning is definitely important to Suri. Sportsmanship in general should be encouraged.

Since Suri has a connection from Mars to Jupiter, she tends to press limits, and can be more accident prone. While this connection increases self-confidence and a willingness to try new things, there can be a tendency to ignore limitations or even to consistently push far past them! Suri can also seem like a speed demon -- even on trikes and bikes. There's also a tendency to be overly confident and under prepared, since this connection tends to prompt a laziness about working hard to develop excellence. However, if the reward is important enough and this child is taught to respect limitations and rules, there's tremendous potential for developing physical prowess. The connection from Mars to Saturn indicates a potential for a low level of physical energy. Because of this, Suri needs to be encouraged to devote some time to physical activity in order to raise energy levels. If there is a defeatist attitude, help her learn the importance of overcoming or meeting challenges. Be sure to celebrate accomplishments with her. Suri may also go the other way and decide to overcompensate and train until she drops! There can be increased self-discipline and an ability to set limits and work or train carefully toward goals. Since Suri has a connection between Mars and Neptune, there's an extra physical sensitivity. This can also increase the potential for developing grace. Unfortunately, there can be a damper on Suri's exuberance and vitality, or she might prefer to channel physical energy into creative activities, like playing music. She might also be able to utilize visualization to improve physical skills. Also, during teen years, these aspects can indicate that Suri harbors powerful dreams about her physical prowess or abilities.

III. Embracing Emotional Drives and Needs

At different stages and ages Suri is developing different parts of herself. One reason childhood astrology is different from adult astrology is that a child is in the process of "becoming". Anyone who's been around children knows that at some stages of development a child is more susceptible or emotionally vulnerable, and that these needs and sensibilities change as a child matures. After all, a baby struggles each day to deal with a difficult-to-control body, but an elementary school age child is struggling with early social relationships. Each of the planets represents a different emotional need and expression, but some planetary symbols are more emotionally charged than others.

There are myriad possibilities, but Suri's chart illustrates the potential emotional strengths and weaknesses, and the areas in her life where there can be greater vulnerability. It is important to explore these concepts through a lens of objectivity, since when dealing with psychological and emotional issues with our children we're likely to run into our own issues as part of the process!

Suri's most powerful emotional needs are symbolized by the Moon, which is the primary indicator of early psychological development. These needs remain with Suri throughout life, continually growing and evolving. The Moon symbolizes the reflective nature of humanity. It is the absorbing, subconscious mind and reflects the needs of the soul. This is the matrix from which habit patterns emerge. Moon is Mother -- who provides nurturing, comfort and security. Mother is the model for a child's developing sense of how she will nurture and care for others, and, most importantly, how Suri will nurture herself. Even as a baby, Suri has had a strong inner awareness of what is happening. As she grows, more information is absorbed and stored in Suri's subconscious mind, and deeper awareness of her feelings also grows. The Moon also indicates basic patterns of conditioning drawn from life experiences and filtered through the qualities of the Moon.

With Moon in Sagittarius, Suri craves the freedom to move about and explore the world. Even as a small baby, Suri may seem eager to venture out into the world. There's a love to play games, tell stories and learn new things. It's a need for expansion and outreach that drives Suri. This need to expand may include overindulgence at the dinner table as well! An urge to know the truth will stimulate this child to ask many questions. Endlessly.

Suri needs respect. That may seem strange for a child, but with the Moon in the 10th House, it is a powerful drive. This begins when Suri is taught to respect others and herself. Suri needs room to achieve and celebrate accomplishments, and may also feel an early impulse about developing career aims or ambitions. Pleasing parents is especially important to this child, and if parents are absent when significant achievements are accomplished, Suri may react with greater hurt than parents first realize.

Suri can be especially tenderhearted with Moon in sextile aspect to Neptune. There can be a deep desire to yield to imaginative and creative impulses, and assuring that this child has ample opportunities to develop creative and artistic sensibilities is highly important. Imagination and dreams can be especially real, and her intuition may be powerful. In addition, there can be a profound emotional tie to Mother, whose comfort and care radiate on a spiritual level for this child.

The energy of the Sun is tied to the development of individuality and the sense of identity. The individuality of the Sun begins to emerge once a child has developed enough mastery over basic bodily functions so that she can start paying more attention to the outside world. The Sun is a major factor in determining, "Who am I?" This radiance of Self really becomes focused once Suri is relating to others on a more frequent basis, especially during the school years.

Suri is an Aries, basically described in the Underlying Personality section of this report. However, there are factors which alter Suri's expression and development of her Sun.

A supportive relationship from family and parents is suggested by Suri's Moon in trine aspect to the Sun. The potential to learn how to positively integrate what Suri needs with what she wants is strong. Self-awareness may develop comfortably, with good confirmation and a sense that Suri is an integral part of her family. A sound external support system is still necessary, although this aspect does indicate a great deal of emotional and personal resilience.

Mercury is not traditionally considered an emotional expression. However, Mercury's role in the expression of feelings is highly important. Mercury represents the function of articulation of ideas and feelings and influences how we communicate them. After all, most of us are more comfortable if we can talk about our emotional experiences to someone special. A child needs to feel that she can talk about anything with her parents, and that it is okay to share feelings and ideas. When a child is not given opportunities to communicate her emotional needs, she can develop problems communicating almost anything else! Mercury's function in our lives is to link internal processes to the external world, and one of the most important inner links is the experience of sharing emotion.

With Mercury and Mars in contact, Suri can be quite assertive expressing ideas. Words can be spoken before their consequences are considered. The tendency to blurt-out ideas can be useful when it's time to speak publicly, since this connection adds courage to the need and desire to communicate. However, if Suri is angered, words are likely to be used as a weapon! During teen years, Suri might enjoy lessons in debate. Prior to that, parents and teachers will be likely to see ample evidence that this is a natural tendency. Arguments can be a form of entertainment. Encourage healthy banter. Another feature of Suri's emotional profile arises from the contact between Mercury and Jupiter. Expounding about anything can be pure fun, and parents and teachers need to encourage Suri to develop confidence in communication. The only problem can be that she tends to stretch the truth. The expansive quality of Jupiter adds just a few more inches to the size of that fish! This can be especially true if Suri feels that the plain reality of a situation is not enough. Learning when "embellishments" are appropriate and when they can lead to trouble will aid Suri's sense of self-confidence. Suri takes communication seriously, since Mercury and Saturn are connected. However, the primary emotional implication from this connection is that Suri may worry excessively. Help her appreciate the realism of situations, but also encourage her to rest and relax the mind. Teach positive thinking! Imaginative stories and ideas are never lacking for Suri. The connection between Mercury and Neptune stimulates a need to reach into the imaginative realm with the mind. Magical thinking is part of childhood, and should definitely be encouraged. However, Suri may not like it when fantasy and reality collide! It's important that parents and family eradicate certain childhood myths in a gentle manner, but also that they teach Suri that imagination can be a very good thing. Parents can listen attentively to the tall tales, appreciating Suri's imaginings, but need to encourage her to tell the truth when relating actual events! Parents also need to be aware that the cute little "stories" told at age five, if left uncorrected, can leave the impression that Suri can lie without being caught. This could lead to socially unacceptable behavior later on.

Self-esteem is another part of Suri's psychological make-up. Venus describes the needs for love and value systems, along with self-worth. Artistic expression can be part of this emotional outlet, and this is Venus in action. Selfish behavior can be Venusian, too, and most small children show Venus through their particular expression of selfishness and their ultimate struggle to allow Venus to evolve as they develop the capacity to learn to share. You'll see Venus expressing in a more outgoing manner after about age four, when Suri may finally want to give something to another person. But the full involvement of Venusian development is during the teen years, when "falling in love" becomes a reality. But, regardless of Suri's age, she needs to feel love from others to encourage growth on every level, including the growth of self-esteem.

Through Venus in Pisces, Suri is tenderhearted and will love sinking into a warm cuddle during story time. Play-acting is great fun, and dance, music and art may be more to Suri's liking than math or history. Even in early childhood, she can learn to enjoy doing nice things for others, and may show a special sensitivity in situations calling for extra care and concern.

Through a connection between Venus and Jupiter, Suri may express an enhanced need to express generosity and a very strong desire to relate to others. The expectations of others may be a problem, and she will benefit by practicing the art of unconditional love. Suri may have great difficulty setting limits on what she wants, however, and a tendency to be disappointed when those wants are not fulfilled can lead to acting-out behaviors. Ultimately, parents need to teach Suri that it's unlikely that anyone will have everything she wants all at once! The desire and ability to include a wide range of friends in Suri's life arises from a connection between Venus and Uranus. Her show of love is definitely an expression of and need for unconditional acceptance. There can be a powerful urge for free emotional expression, since spontaneous emotion is a definite reality. Suri may be the champion for the underdog. So, if you're wondering why Suri brings home the weirdest kids in the school -- it's because she can relate to them!

Suri may enjoy group associations, team activities, and things that include others. However, there is also a need to stand out in the crowd. Suri may also be the one who begins a new fashion revolution or sets trends. The need is to be different, and to let others know that being different is fantastic!

Suri's Mars shows when she expresses anger and personal strength. As Suri grows up, the way she shows personal assertiveness will be developed.

With Mars in Cancer, Suri is most comfortable in circumstances which are non-confrontational. Sports may not be enjoyable if injury is a possibility, since she really does not like getting hurt. If she gets into an argument or brawl with anyone, she can become exceptionally upset emotionally and will need time to cool down and get settled. However, Suri will enjoy learning ways to experience her strength. For that reason, encouraging physical activities which allow her to establish a sense of control over the physical plane can be quite valuable.

Suri may not demonstrate the energy of Uranus until teenage years, since this quality is part of the expression of uniqueness, ingenuity, and rebellion. It's usually outwardly expressed in teen years as part of a teen's uprising against the status quo. Uranus spends about seven years in one sign, and is one of the planetary energies that identify qualities of a generation. Uranus in Pisces opens the way for heightened creativity and will mark a time period when some of the boundaries between the people of earth will be erased. Suri and her generation will appreciate a special emphasis in the arts, but will also respond to situations which allow them to feel more connected to one another. Music is a prime example of this kind of energy -- since the vibration, sounds and flow of music can completely alter the moods and expressions of the people experiencing it. It may be more difficult for Suri and peers to break out of "collective" experiences. In fact, their desire to be alike may be important in some instances. These shared experiences can confirm an unexpected quality of power, and learning to direct consciousness and mind may play a significant role as Suri reaches her maturation.

But the personal expression of Uranian energy is most likely to be seen in the arena of life most influenced by this planet. Uranus in the 1st House adds an unusual, and independent quality to Suri's personality. Suri needs plenty of room to exercise her individuality, and should be given ample opportunities to interject her preferences for clothes and other "image" related items. During teen years, watch for surprise hair colors, at the least!

Another significant, but emotionally charged, generation-oriented quality is the energy of Pluto. Pluto represents the deepest reservoirs of emotional energy, and is not a quality openly expressed in childhood. However, when a personal planet or angular point in a chart is connected to Pluto, then this profound level of emotional and transformational energy is easier to see. Pluto also represents deep-seated anxieties or fears, which are, for lack of a better description, absorbed into the psyche.

For a child, it's virtually impossible to direct an awareness of this energy, since the personal self must be well developed before knowledge of this esoteric plane of consciousness awakens. In fact, most adults have difficulty with this part of the self! Although the energy of Pluto may be felt during the childhood years, it is not usually a conscious expression at this time.

Pluto moves very slowly through the zodiac, and its sign tells more about the transformational influence Pluto will have on that particular generation than it will about the changes in the individual. The generation with Pluto in Sagittarius (1996 - 2008) is confronted with quite a mission. During this era, a true global economy is emerging and new definitions of power are coming into play. Suri and her peers will be challenged to transform the educational systems, the courts and the legislative bodies once they come into their power within society. The important distinctions between religion and spirituality will be emerging during this era, and Suri is hungry to know the truth. If we cannot teach it ourselves, she will help us uncover the myths which mask it.

As with the other transpersonal planets, the House position of Pluto is the area of life where you help Suri get in touch with a need for healing and transformational change. Pluto in the 10th House can indicate that Suri has a strong need to be in charge. She may not do well as a follower, simply because her emotional drive is to be in control. However, aspects from other planets to Pluto will determine how this is played out or tested in Suri's life, since this is a prominent position for Pluto. (Look elsewhere in this report to determine if Suri has other planets connected to Pluto.) Dealings with authorities can be a challenge, too.

You've discovered that the Ascendant is like the window-dressing or mask of the personality, but connections from planets to the Ascendant can also alter how Suri expresses her emotional self.

With the Sun in a supportive contact with the Ascendant, Suri may have a "sunny" disposition! There's a tendency to be highly noticeable, and she may like to shine above the crowd. The Moon's connection to the Ascendant adds a receptive quality to Suri's personality. She can also feel self-protective or a bit shy, since there's greater emotional sensitivity to what others think about her. Her emotions are more noticeable. With Neptune in aspect to the Ascendant, Suri is the actor. She can be like a chameleon, changing her personalities to fit the environment. Suri can also project a mystical beauty and peaceful radiance.

Sometimes, planets appear to move backward in their orbital path from our viewpoint here on Earth. When that happens, we say a planet is retrograde.

There can be a strengthening of personal faith with Jupiter retrograde, because ideals and philosophical beliefs are developed within the self. Suri's ideals and morals may run counter to those of society at large, because she is likely to give them extra thought! Writers William Butler Yeats (who wrote extensively about mystical philosophical concepts) and Upton Sinclair were both born with Jupiter retrograde. The expansive energy of Jupiter is positively enhanced when retrograde, because the inner search for truth is strongly empowered. Pluto spends about half of each year in retrograde motion. Parents and teachers can help Suri understand her sense of personal power in relationship to other people and situations by finding positive role models for power. Super heroes may be fascinating, but a real hero will be more effective. Suri may feel somewhat mistrustful of this life process and needs to develop a trust of herself. Developing honesty is quite helpful to this process.

IV. Fostering Creativity and Spirituality

Children seem to be inherently connected to spiritual awareness and expression. Their joy in the daily discoveries of life can be infectious, and a child's sense of wonder brings light into life. To help a child find Truth and embrace a sense of The Divine, very little encouragement is needed. But it is necessary to support this natural connection, and can make all the difference in Suri's ability to trust herself.

One of the most significant ways to help Suri awaken and touch Spirit is to foster her creativity. It's not necessary for every child to be a consummate artist, but each child needs room to experiment with the creative self. There are several factors in the astrological chart that support the development and expression of personal creativity.

Beyond education and development of the intellect in a more formal sense, Mercury plays an important role in self-expression. After all, this is the energy of linking ideas and concepts from the inner self to the outside world -- and back again! One of the creative influences of Mercury in Aries can be developed in the early years by encouraging artistic play with paper and scissors. Sewing might be enjoyable, too. Later on, Suri might enjoy carving, metal work, or-- in culinary arts--carving flowers, animals and other decorative shapes from vegetables! In music, Suri might be an enthusiastic percussionist.

Venus, the expression of artistry, is, of course, an important part of creativity. This is the energy through which Suri experiences and expresses feelings. In many respects, while the Moon represents "feeling," Venus represents "emotion" -- which is the voice of feeling. Venus also represents beauty, a quality deep within which every child needs to feel, identify and express.

Encourage Suri to get in touch with expressions that feel good to her heart! Special talents and creative interests will give her a chance to exercise a highly sensitive imagination. Nighttime stories can develop into story-telling and then dramatic stage presentations, which can not only be fun, but may give Suri a chance to see the difference between real and "pretend." Music is especially important, and there can be a special love of dance or ballet, along with talents for singing or playing instruments like harp, guitar or synthesized sound. On stage, anything from acting and singing to make-up, costume design, or set decoration can be enjoyed. Mime and ventriloquism might also be fun. Artistic talents should be encouraged early, too. So have easels and art supplies around all the time. There may be an interest in painting, or even in animation!

With Venus in the 1st house, Suri will want to present a beautiful image to the world. The manner of dress, action and speaking are likely to be refined, since she has a vested interest! Overall, she can be quite the artist, and may feel most at ease when surrounded by beautiful places and things.

Venus-Jupiter aspects confer confidence, especially when they are harmonious and flowing. Suri may attract the support of gifted teachers as part of her artistic expression, since these contacts indicate the gift of attracting support. As a result, Suri may be easily inspired by a teacher or other mentor. There can be a love of travel and reading. Writing may be a strong talent, and so may public speaking. She can also be a positive supporter of others. This is a helpful connection to find in the chart of a cheerleader (and later, an agent or attorney)! There's a unique flair to Suri's artistry. While her tastes may be a bit unusual, sometimes even strange, they're always interesting. Plus, there will be a powerful desire to experiment with creative ideas and self-expression. It's quite possible that there are special talents or abilities, since Venus and Uranus make a harmonious contact. Also, there may be an interest in art forms which are considered to be leading-edge. Give Suri plenty of room and opportunity to explore her artistry.

To get past purely self-centered awareness, the expansive energy of Jupiter encourages a child to reach out and expand her personal universe. Through Jupiter, Suri can begin to build a basic philosophy of life, and exercise her sense of hope and vision. The need to reach out and give is Jupiter in action, but so is enthusiasm. Most important, when Suri is in touch with Jupiter, she is inspired! Here is the desire to grow, to reach into new horizons, to feel adventure and joy. While it may take a lifetime to develop a personal philosophy or explore religious teachings, during childhood, Suri does feel wonder about universal principles, a Higher Power, and endless questions called, "Why?"

Moral questions flow through the realm of Jupiter, and learning higher principles through inspiring teachers and mentors is another outpouring of this energy. It is generally not until a child has developed some measure of cognitive skill that the awareness of Jupiter can be taught. During elementary school and preteen years, this energy begins to flourish. Jupiter is a function of the higher mind, the part of our consciousness that can connect with the Divine. The early awareness of Jupiter deals primarily with the concepts of sharing, positive thinking, enthusiasm and hope for reward.

Even from an early age, Suri may have a strong interest in understanding moral values. With Jupiter in the 9th House, Suri may be interested in religion and philosophy, and will love allegorical tales which drive home the meanings of universal Truths. Exploring other cultures can be an excellent way for her to learn the value of tolerance. She will have a strong appreciation for teachers who walk their talk.

Then, there is the world of dreams and imagination. Neptune's placement in the chart indicates the areas where a child dreams most easily. The sensitivity Neptune adds to life allows Suri to connect with the spiritual, nonphysical realm. What child is not a master at make-believe? But this energy is also an expression of Divine Compassion, and it needs special support and nourishment during childhood. Encouraging Suri to trust her dreams, while identifying the difference between the "real" and "imaginary" world can be quite a job. But it is a very important one, since walking between the inner world and the outside world requires special awareness. There is nothing inferior about imagination, nor is there anything wrong with beliefs, since there are many expressions of reality.

Another feature of this energy is the expression of charity. A child taught to give to others less fortunate is definitely a blessed child!

Because Neptune moves very slowly, it is another of the generation-focused planets. Other children Suri's age will likely have Neptune in the same sign. Neptune's sign is another quality that speaks for Suri's whole generation. Suri was born into the age group with Neptune in Aquarius, from 1998-2012. A generation of visionaries who will be exposed to many dreams and possibilities, there is great promise for Neptune in Aquarius. During their lifetimes space travel could become common, and extraterrestrial communications are likely to advance. It may be that this generation will be the first to make contact with life forms beyond our own planet. This group is likely to see interesting connections developing between science and religion. It may be up to them to find the common threads that bind us all together, and the ideas that can light our path toward peace.

Neptune's placement in the chart shows the areas where a child can easily dream. This also provides indicators of the facet's of life where Suri can feel a desire to let go or to exercise compassion toward others. Suri needs plenty of outlets for creative imagination. Encourage Suri to share her dreams and to use them in story-telling, singing songs, drawing or play-acting. With Neptune in the 12th House, she has a highly sensitive connection to the imaginary and spiritual realms.

V. Perceptions of the Parents

Guess what? You can tell how Suri is likely to see her parents by looking at her own chart! Understanding how Suri perceives Mom and Dad can be especially helpful, since what Suri hopes to see and needs to experience from parents forms the basis of her sense of Self.

When Suri feels happy and full of joy, the world looks bright, too. But if Suri is physically or emotionally low, her behavior and responsiveness suffer. In relationships with others, children and adults alike will project their feelings and perceptions onto other people. Suri needs to experience herself through projecting her needs onto the people in her personal environment. In fact, the undeveloped Aspects of the Self are usually projected onto others as a means of "seeing" these feelings or needs manifested in some way. Projection is a key factor in human psychology.

In many instances, the other people are reasonable targets for those projections, especially if their connections are bound by emotions or other commitments. A child looks to Mother as the person who will reflect the nurturing feminine needs. Mother represents the inner feminine self for boys and girls alike. Suri may even see things in Mother that Mother does not recognize as the way she is!

Suri's Moon sign shows how she perceives Mother. It makes no difference whether Mother sees herself in this light or not -- the child holds these particular perceptions what Mother needs to be because she is projecting her own inner needs for security onto her. As Suri matures into adulthood, these perceptions determine how Suri will play the nurturing and mothering role toward others.

Through Suri's eyes, Mother is the ultimate teacher, since the Moon in Sagittarius projects qualities of wisdom and spirituality onto Mother. Mom may also seem very independent and sometimes unreliable.

Through the harmonious contact between Moon and Neptune, Suri may have the feeling that Mother is a source of spiritual and mystical power. In some instances, Mother may personify a kind of perfect ideal, especially in the sense of "goddess-like" qualities. The intuitive connection with Mother may also be quite profound and special to Suri.

The Sun, the primary masculine energy in the chart, is also described as a person's sense of "self". A young child has a very limited true sense of self, and is not likely to "own" these qualities until the preteen years or later. This sense of individuality may be strongly tied to the initial relationship with Father and, later, to interactions with other significant male figures. In early childhood development, Suri's Sun does not express fully as an individual ego. The Sun powerfully affects the child's perceptions of Father; if the father is supportive and consistent, Suri may feel that his or her own individuality is reliable and strong. Suri's perceptions of Father are strongly symbolized by the energy of the Sun in the astrological chart.

Suri sees Dad as a courageous individual. She projects qualities of independence, strength and leadership onto Father through the Sun in Aries. Father's courage is a treasure for Suri.

With the Sun in the 2nd House, Suri will see Dad as the source of material security and may emulate his work or actions as a means to provide for herself during later years. Suri definitely needs Dad's stamp of approval to feel worthy.

Through the connections between the Sun and Uranus, Suri is likely to perceive that she has an exceptional father. Or, Suri may see the father as too aloof, leading to feelings that Dad is unreliable or undependable. Dad may be rather eccentric, but he could also just be highly independent. Remember: this is the potential perception Suri has of Father! It's possible that Suri sees the father as a model so unique that she could never fit into it. It's also likely that she sees the father as living beyond the limitations and structures of society, offering a different viewpoint of life from the "norm." When given an opportunity to prove her own uniqueness to Father, Suri will require positive reinforcement for her talents and abilities if she is to feel confidence in her individuality.

Then, there is a need for solidity, structure and safety -- and most children look to parents to establish this for them. A child is not capable of understanding the ways of the world, but will learn about them eventually. Nor does a child understand the need for limits. It's up to parents and teachers to set these limits and expose a child to the rules of life. These rules, tests and structures are identified by the energy of Saturn.

There can be a downside, since Saturn energy feels judgmental and limiting much of the time, especially in childhood. Many children are anything but delighted at the prospect of being "responsible" -- that's what adults are supposed to be, not kids!

The placement of Saturn not only symbolizes the parents, but also authority in society. Saturn does not necessarily represent one parent or another. Here is discipline, structure, and stability. This is also tradition. For the better part, what Saturn symbolizes is the story of how Suri needs to be stabilized and what she requires in terms of a sense of safety and security.

Saturn in Leo indicates a need for parents who hold a respected place in the community or overall family structure. Suri needs to see how parents handle their own individuality, since she is striving to claim her own autonomy. It's important that Suri not feel pushed into prominent roles in society unless there is adequate support, since she will take the burden of fame or recognition very seriously.

Saturn in the 6th House represents lessons learned about health. Suri needs to learn from parents what part personal responsibility plays in maintaining health, but she also will be looking for ways to approach duties and everyday tasks. Being part of the family's household chores and maintenance is important. This does not mean, however, that Suri is destined to become the housekeeper for the family!

Ultimately, as Suri moves through the various ages and stages of childhood, she will be able to incorporate all these qualities and expressions once seen through others, into herself. However, some vestiges of our childhood remain throughout a lifetime. Think of the concepts in this report as the building blocks for the person who will become Suri through the course of these early years. And enjoy every moment of your journey together!
